A "GREENIE" CAME TO TOWN.

Mistook the Fire Alarm Box for Uncle Sam's Postoffice.

The countryman in town is often the cause of much laughter for the citizens, but one who came here today eclipsed all former performances in the matter of provoking mirth.

The gentleman knew he was in town and knew he would make no mistakes. He had a letter which some of the home folks had given him to mail. Of course it would be no trouble, as he could drop it in a mail box and the letter would go all right.

He was a mile from the postoffice when he decided to mail his letter, and walked up to what he thought was the mail box, with an easy look upon his face as though he had mailed a thousand letters.

There was no glass over the box, and he didn't think one belonged there. He turned the key to open the little door and place his letter inside.

The door would not open and he had about decided that the machine was out of fix, when suddenly he saw the dust rising at a distant street corner. When the dust had cleared away two hose wagons came in sight coming at a rapid rate. He merely thought it was the post office department coming after his letter, but there was a look of doubt on his face. When the wagons reached him they stopped. The horses stood panting from the effects of the long run and the men jumped from the wagons and looked in all directions for fire. Imagine the man's surprise and humiliation when he learned that he had called out the fire department.

Whether his letter was mailed or not we did not learn.

NEW N. C. RAILROADS.

Some Important New Lines That Are Now Under Construction.

A Charlotte special to the New York Commercial Advertiser, says:

The Atlantic Coast Line will begin work next month on a new extension of its line from Denmark to Martins, S. C. The A. C. L., having recently secured control of the Charleston and Western Carolina railway, will now build this line in order to connect the Manchester and the Augusta divisions of its line. The work is to be completed within six months. Work on the new Raleigh and Cape Fear railroad, which is to extend from Raleigh to Fayetteville, sixty or more miles, is now in progress, and twelve miles of it completed, trains having just been put on to run from Raleigh to McCullers, via Caraleigh cotton mills. Contracts for the grading of the second and third sections will now be let and work pushed simultaneously with the completion of the first twenty miles. This road will open up a new and valuable timber and mining section.

The Raleigh and Northern railroad is another newly incorporated road, on which work was begun this month, and which will be built at once through Wake, Harnett, Johnston and Cumberland counties to Fayetteville, thence in a southerly direction. By this line the Atlantic Coast Line expects to gain an entrance into Raleigh. Connection will be made with the new road, known as the Raleigh and Springhope, at the latter-named place, and the Atlantic Coast Line trains will enter Raleigh over that route.

The new Richmond, Petersburg and Carolina "short cut" road, of which Gen. Nagle, of New York, is president, and Mr. DeWitt Smith, also of New York, is general manager, is now nearing completion. It is to be operated by the Seaboard Air Line as a part of its main line between Washington and Atlanta.

NANTUCKET'S CREW HOME.

Welcomed Most Cordially by The People of Wilmington.

Wilmington, Aug. 30—The officers and crew of the United States Monitor Nantucket, which has been stationed at Port Royal returned home this morning on a special train, arriving at 8 o'clock. Practically all were originally from Wilmington and members of Wilmington division of naval reserves. The officers, all except Commander George L. Morton, have already been discharged from the service; the crew will be mustered out at once.

A most cordial reception was given the returning reserves. Thousands of people with a band of music met them at the train and escorted them to their armory where speeches were made by John D. Bellamy, democratic candidate for congress from the Sixth district, and others.

THE CLARK-KILGO MATTER.

Trial On At Durham Last Night and Today.

GIST OF THE EVIDENCE GIVEN.

Judge Clark's Insinuation About South Carolina Ministers Repudiated By Dr. Kilgo.

Special to the Telegram.

Durham, N. C., Aug. 31—The board of trustees of Trinity College met at 5 o'clock p. m. yesterday, at the Duke building, Trinity College. A large number of the trustees were present. Judge Clark was on hand and Dr. Kilgo was ready. The former is assisted by E. C. Beckwith, of Raleigh and R. B. Boone, of Durham. Dr. Kilgo represents himself.

The general charge was unfitness on Dr. Kilgo's part to be president of Trinity College. The following specifications are taken from Judge Clark's letter which was published over North Carolina:

Sycophancy (making a speech saying Mr. Duke was the greatest man North Carolina has ever produced.)

Receiving a personal gratuity from Mr. Duke.

Being a wire puller of the ward politician type.

Being a "scrub politician" in Tennessee.

Judge Clark, in the beginning, read a long paper in which he claimed that he could not get justice at the hands of the trustees. He mentioned those of the board who had either said or done that which, in his opinion, would keep them from judging impartially, no matter what testimony he might bring forward. Some of those whose names Judge Clark mentioned as unfit to try his case denied his allegations.

All the trustees, some of whom are honored and trusted Methodist preachers, look upon Judge Clark's charge as an allegation that a Christian man may have such strong, prejudiced convictions that those convictions cannot be changed in an investigation where the honor and usefulness of the church is at stake.

The paper of Judge Clark which was presented as a motion failed to pass, and on motion was made a part of the record.

Judge Clark, in another paper, spoke of the great difficulty had in getting depositions from men from whom he had expected them and intimated that he would be at a disadvantage on this account.

President Kilgo spoke in answer to Judge Clark, affirming that Judge Clark was simply trying to do what he had done from the first—evade the issue. President Kilgo strongly repudiated Judge Clark's insinuation that the preachers who refused to give depositions against him (Kilgo) personally were influenced by fear or other motives. He said that he knew them, that they were among the best men in South Carolina, that they were not present to repel the insinuation and that no man present would dare to tell such a thing to their faces.

The following witnesses were examined: E. C. Beckwith, R. B. Boone, and T. J. Gattis. The testimony of these men was to the effect that Dr. Kilgo was not known in South Carolina as a wire puller of the ward politician type. They could say nothing against his moral character. Mr. Council, of the Durham Sun, was next examined. Then the depositions of Rev. Mr. Ligon, and Mr. Jennings, of South Carolina were read. Mr. Jennings' deposition proved to be strong testimony for the defence.

The board adjourned at 12 o'clock, midnight, and met again this morning at 10 o'clock. The prosecution had a few more depositions to offer and then the defence began by putting in its testimony.

A SWEEPING STORM.

Wind Velocity Seventy-five Miles Per Hour.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Savannah, August 31—A severe storm is sweeping along the coast, Early this morning the wind velocity was seventy-five miles per hour, and the rain was pouring in torrents. The streets are filled with debris, railroad tracks are washed out and the trains delayed. Telephone communication with Tybee Island has been severed.

The Arabs attach great importance to the water supply of their communities, and travelers say that where a rich American would bequeath money to founding a hospital or decorating a church, a rich Arab can think of no other channel for his charity than the construction of a fountain which will assure him the blessings of future generations.

The town is being well billed again for the excursion from Salisbury to Norfolk Sept. 1st, which is the cheapest excursion ever advertised here. Fare for round-trip $3.50.

The engine at the Southern Chair Factory broke down this morning causing a shut down for the day.

We regret exceedingly to chronicle the death of Mr. G. H. Makepeace which occurred yesterday at his home in Franklinsville, after a lingering illness. He was the father of Miss Nellie Makepeace who is so kindly remembered here by a very wide circle of friends. We extend with many friends our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family.

A small boy by the name of Jones was in the back lot of Alexander's store this morning chopping wood when a little negro came up and asked what he was doing, he replied nothing. The negro said I'll give you something to do and struck him with a rock on the head and run. He deserves a genteel whipping.

A glimpse at that young soldier from Camp Alger who passed through today enroute to his home in Tennessee and a talk with that sailor of the U. S. S. Maple who passed through yesterday would give a man room to say that if Uncle Sam should ever want any more men in the army or navy he will have them to hunt.

EMPEROR NICHOLAS' PROPOSAL.

An Attempt Being Made to Rob Him of His Thunder.

London, Aug. 31—The Daily Graphic says Lord Salisbury in 1888 communicated to Emperor William a memorandum showing the tremendous cost of armed Europe. Emperor William was so impressed that he privately intimated his intention to summon a disarmament congress. The semi-official German press ventilated the idea with the result that so much animosity was revealed on the part of France that the Kaiser abandoned the project.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times says: "Count Muravieff, the Russian and Foreign Minister declares that the idea originated entirely with Emperor Nicholas. There is much sceptisim in diplomatic circles as to any practical results from a conference and it is admitted on all sides that the circular came as the greatest surprise."

The Paris correspondent of The Times still insists that M. Faure and the French ministers knew nothing before hand, and that the Czar's proposal has plunged the entire official world into terrible embarrassment and almost into stupefication.

"Everybody," says M. De Blowitz, "is asking with dismay what it means. It is a sad awakening for France and her papers are making an immense effort to restrain their feelings in the face of what is regarded as Russian perfidy."

The men lived near Belew's Creek and both of them had families. Walnut Cove is a dry town.

are words that are often heard after people have tried Orange Phosphate at our fountain. Orange Phosphate is so common that it takes something extra to call forth such remarks. THE SHIPP MONUMENT.

Some days ago, as was announced in these columns, the Charlotte Observer began a fund for the erection of a monument to Lieutenant Wm. E. Shipp, the only North Carolinian who was killed in the land battles of the war with Spain. The fund has begun to grow. Col. J. S. Carr, of Durham, the patriot and soldier boys' friend, immediately sent his check for one hundred dollars. Other small amounts have been contributed. The committees appointed by the Observer to aid in the work are formulating plans and issuing appeals. The cause itself should appeal to every one. Any amount, large or small, will be received and acknowledged. Leave subscriptions at the Telegram office, or with Hon. Thos. Settle or R. R. King, this city.

The republican convention for this, the fifth, district will be held at Graham next Saturday. There is a wide difference of opinion as to who will be the nominee. It is insisted by some that Judge Adams will be nominated and that he will resign the judgeship and make the race for congress. This has been considered to be the plan of Judge Adams' friends; but it would not be surprising if it has been so fixed that the judge will have to hold what he has or get nothing. We predict that Judge Adams will continue in the race for judge and that Hon. Thomas Settle will make the race for congress.

The United States, with its great heart beating for the cause of humanity, said to Spain: You shall stop your cruelty to your subjects; we will drive you from your possessions in the Antilles and we will feed and succor the starving Cubans. Now, if the press dispatches are true, we may say, without being classed as a traitor to the flag, that it is in order for somebody with a great human heart to say to the present administration: You must feed and succor the soldiers whom you have mustered into the service of Uncle Samuel.

Concord is to have a complete sewerage system. Concord is using good, hard, common sense in this move. There are other towns in North Carolina, larger than Concord which might do well to consider and follow the example of their smaller sister.

GEN. WHEELER TAKES A HAND.

He Stirs up the Hospital Staff in a Telling Manner.

"Fighting Joe," as he is remembered by his confederate friends is, himself, taking a hand in the management of affairs in and around the hospital at Montauk. The New York Sun yesterday contained a lengthy account of the conditions of things there and of General Wheeler's part in straightening out the hospital staff we clip the following:

Gen. Wheeler took a hand in the administration of hospital affairs and he did it in a way that will not soon be forgotten by the hospital officials.

Col. Forwood's complaint to Gen. Alger on Saturday about the lack of lumber at the hospital for the carpenters to work on has caused a decided coolness between the Col. and Gen. Wheeler. The latter, as already told in the Sun, showed that the failure of lumber to reach the hospital was due to the fact that it had been diverted by some of the regimental quartermasters.

That Gen. Wheeler is thoroughly disgusted with the administration of hospital affairs there is no denying, and his two interviews yesterday and today with Col. Forwood and the regimental surgeons show that he means to take a hand in the conduct of affairs from now on.

Late yesterday afternoon when Gen. Wheeler summoned Col. Forwood and all of the regimental surgeons to his headquarters and told that he had received a complaint of a lack of medicine from all sides, the principal complaint having been made by Dr. Woods of Gen. Ame's division, he demanded to know from each surgeon whether or not this was true, and each and every one replied that it was. Then turning to Col. Forwood, he said:

"How about this? Didn't you tell me that there was enough medicine for everybody?"

"I did, and there s plenty," said Col. Forwood." The whole trouble is that the regimental sugeons do not send for it. If they send for it they will get it."

"Then you have enough for the present," said Gen. Wheeler. "I've sent for more and it will be here before long. Now I want you surgeons to make out your requisitions day by day and see that they are filled. I want no more complaints about lack of medicine."

At 10 o'clock this morning General Wheeler again summoned all the surgeons to his tent.

"I have brought you here to find out if you have done what I told you to do and have got plenty of medicine."

All the doctors said they had excepting Dr. Woods, who again complained that he could not get the medicines."

"Did you make out a requisition for what you wanted?" asked General Wheeler.

"I did," replied Dr. Woods.

"Was it honored?"

"It was not."

"Well, Col. Forwood, perhaps you can explain.

"The requisition was sent, but no transportation," said Colonel Forwood.

Dr. Woods admitted that and said he had but one horse. Gen. Wheeler looked very weary.

"How many horses do you need?" he asked.

"Three," said the doctor.

"Dr. Woods, didn't it occur to you that you might have sent your one horse over three times?"

Dr. Woods made no reply, and, addressing all the physicians, Gen. Wheeler said:

"There is now no excuse for any of you complaining of a lack of medical supplies. Everything you ask for will be given to you. You know now how to get anything you want, and I will take no excuse for a lack of supplies from any of you from now on."

After the doctors had dispersed, Gen. Wheeler said to Col. Forwood that there had been a number of complaints from the people who were unable to get answers from the general hospital when they rang up that institution on the telephone. Col. Forwood said his doctors could not leave their patients to answer telephone calls.

"Then detail a man to do nothing but answer telephone calls," said Gen. Wheeler. "And now," he continued, "why can't there be an alphabetical list made of all the patients in the hospitals as they go out and in. There is complaint of lack of system."

"I cannot do it," said Col. Forwood.

"Well, then, I'll show you how," said Gen. Wheeler, and he told the chief surgeon of the hospital to get an indexed book and put down each patient's name under his initial when he came in and to check it off when he went out.

Then the General made some very decided remarks about the way things were being run in the hospitals. Col. Forwood said something about being unable to pass into the detention hospital himself if all of Gen. Wheeler's orders were carried out, whereupon Gen. Wheeler sat down and wrote out a pass for the chief surgeon to go in and out when he chose. Col. Forwood looked very much surprised, but said nothing.

DENY IT WAS YELLOW FEVER.

Deaths at Camp Wikoff Were From Malarial Fever.

New York, Aug. 30—Medical officers at Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, deny that there have been deaths at the camp hospital from yellow fever. The two men whose death there yesterday was said to be attributable to the disease named were, according to the surgeons in charge, victims of pernicious malarial fever, which those unfamiliar with yellow fever fraternity diagnose as the latter. Dr. Nicholas Zeenn, Assistant Surgeon General United States Army, is quoted as saying today at Camp Wikoff:

"So far none of the fevers have been indigenous to camp. But if the men remain they will certainly be attacked with typhoid fever. This will be due to the germs which they will get in the water. For a time this camp will be a healthy one, but in a few weeks the typhoid fever germs from the sinks and cess pools, now scattered so thickly about, will permeate the earth and contaminate the water supply.

"To make this place healthy we should have a system of drainage which would carry away all these germs, but to build such would cost a large sum, owing to the extent of the camp."

Several hundred cots arrived last night and were this morning put up in the different hospitals. There is now enough room to accommodate all the sick. Five deaths were reported today. The transport San Marcos, which reached New York on Sunday arrived at Montauk Point with her complement of Texas volunteers from Cuba. The transport Berlin also reached Montauk Point today with the First Illinois volunteer infantry.

Dr. Welston of Washington, arrived at the camp today, being sent by Surgeon General Sternberg. He began securing and analyzing blood of men who suffered from yellow fever in Cuba, but who have since recovered, the purpose being to ascertain the effects of yellow fever and other contagious diseases on the men.

A Sterwood (Wis.) woman has suggested tha instead of having our war ships christened by sweet young things with golden hair it would be a good idea to give "practical" women a chance. She wants to officiate at the launch of the Wisconsin, and among her qualifications mentions the following: She is fifty-one years old, got her education in a little schoolhouse in Wisconsin, knows how to cook, knit, spin and make soft soap; wears her hair short, and has christened and reared two boys and two girls of her own.

The United States ship Monongahela, which has taken out the cadets of the Naval Academy on many summer cruises, will probably not perform that service again. The old vessel, it is said, will be "housed over," similar to the Santee, and used for barracks. The practice ship, to be named the Chesapeake, now building at Bath, Me., will be ready by spring, in time for the cadets' summer cruise.

The Best Remedy for Flux.

Mr. John Mathias, a well known stock dealer of Pulaski, Ky., says: "After suffering for over a week with flux, and my physician having failed to relieve me, I was advised to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and have the pleasure of stating that the half of one bottle cured me." For sale by C. E. Holton.

The city council of Brunswick, Mo., recently passed a resolution of respect and condolence expressive of sorrow at the sudden and tragic death of the city marshal. The measure was signed by the mayor, who in a street altercation with his fellow municipal servant had fired the shot that ended the marshal's life, himself narrowly escaping death from wounds inflicted upon him in the dispute.

A Horse Electrocuted.

A horse belonging to Mr. Frank Stronach was electrocuted on the Hillsboro road at the switch in front of the Cameron field about 7:30 p. m.

Haywood Sneed, the driver, was badly shocked and he suffered more from fright than anything else. Sneed drives a one-horse hack for Mr. Stronach and was just returning from the country where he had carried a passenger. It was intensely dark and impossible to discern anything ahead. The trolley wire that flashes the current which propels the street cars had snapped near the switch and fallen out in the street. The horse was jogging along, but as soon as he touched the wire he fell in a heap. The driver alighted to ascertain the trouble and his leg touched the wire and he was terribly shocked. The horse died almost instantly.

The street car company was at once notified and the wire soon removed. The break was remedied and the cars were not delayed long.—Morning Post.

"He may not put on quite as much style in his clothing as your young man," snapped the girl in the pink shirt waist, "but he drives one of the handcomest and costliest turnouts in this town."

"How many dollars a week does the fat lady get?" inquired the tattooed man.

"H'm," sniffed the snake charmer. "She's English, you know, and gets paid by the pound."

"Is that so?" put in the live skeleton. 'Thank goodness I'm not English! I'd stand a slim chance."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

TRAINING A WARHORSE.

How He Is Taught to Stand the Blaze and Thunder of Battle.

A warhorse is broken to be steady under fire by tying ropes to his legs. While the animal is down on the ground the officer takes a pistol and fires it close to his ear. Then in rapid order he fires the weapon over his back, under his neck, between his legs, anywhere that an opening presents itself during the horse's futile struggles. Not until he sinks back exhausted, all a-tremble and showing the whites of his eyes, does the pistol practice cease.

After two or three lessons of this kind it is considered safe to mount him with a bridle furnished with a curb bit. Up to this time the horse has never felt a curb. The light snaffle is still retained, and the curb bridle is only given a gentle pressure at first, just enough to let him know that it is there. Gradually the strength of the pull is increased, and with this safeguard the horse is taught to stand fire from his rider's pistol or carbine.

In carbine practice the horse must be thoroughly broken, as both hands are required in using this weapon, whereas with the pistol the rider may retain the bridle with one hand.

Then comes saber practice, and that is another trial to the horse. Again is he thrown to the ground, and he probably can't understand why he should have to suffer this indignity all over again, for he has learned that lesson very well. But when the bright blade of the saber, with quick thrusts flashing before his eyes and cutting the air in close proximity to his ears, appears to him he is again terror stricken.

But the lesson he has learned from the smell of gunpowder stands him in good stead, and he soon gets over his fear. And even with a man on his back and another mounted upon a seasoned horse coming at him with saber raised in the air or slashing left and right he knows that it is all a part of his education and something to be expected. So he stands his ground or cavorts about the other horse while the two troopers indulge in their saber practice.—New York World.

The Place For the Repentant.

They had eloped and returned for the parental blessing.

"Father," the beautiful young woman said, "we are sorry for what we have done. Will you"—

"Then," the stern old man interrupted, "why don't you go to the lawyer around the corner? I'm no divorce court."—Chicago News.

One Consolation.

There is one consolation in being on the shady side of life. When a man gets to be 50 years or so and he says of a young woman, "Confound it, if I wasn't married already I'd marry the girl myself," he actually believes she would have him. This is as good as getting her, better perhaps.—Boston Transcript.

"One of the lessons of the war," says the Detroit Free Press, "is that battleships should be made fireproof. If Spain had built non-combustible boats some of them would still be in service—in the United States navy.

About one month ago my child which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. For sale by C. E. Holton.

The Atwood Suspender

hereon shown, is as much ahead of the general make of suspenders as the arc light is ahead of our grandmother's tallow dip.

The Reason

is simply because they do not slip off the shoulders; they do not bag the trousers behind; they do not draw uncomfortably over the spine. The elastic is in the back, where it should be. No rubber over the shoulders. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Gems of art and beauty are the Worsteds that we are receiving for our fall customers. They are being opened up for your inspection.

Caught in a Wheel.

A colored man named Patrum, an employee of the Cape Fear manufacturing company, was painfully injured at the factory this morning. The sleeve of his overall jacket was caught in a belt and his arm carried around the wheel. The flange on the wheel tore the flesh terribly above his elbow and his arm was badly bruised in oth places. The force of the belt knocked him against a post a few feet away.

Physicians were summoned and dressed his wounds. It was necessary to take take several stitches in his arm.
